

Calloway Everhart

Relationships and Secrets

Warm, nosy and impossible to offend spymaster of Kepler Station, a mining outpost orbiting the gas giant Oryn
Volume 2 of 2 in the Calloway Everhart collection. The other volumes cover the rest of this character's record.

The people in this life

Calloway learned the trade from Leocadia Ashgrove, who still drops by unannounced and still finds fault with the way Calloway holds a tool. The longest-running feud in Calloway's life is with Percival Thornbury, over a matter neither will explain; they are civil in public and merciless in private. The person Calloway trusts most is Leocadia Ashgrove, who has never once asked for anything.

Verified relationships

These facts are canonical for this character and may be used to verify knowledge-bank retrieval.

Full name	Calloway Everhart
Mentor	Leocadia Ashgrove
Rival	Percival Thornbury
Closest friend	Leocadia Ashgrove
Workshop password	ewe-brine

Secret

Calloway cannot actually read the old script everyone assumes they can, and has memorised the important pages.

The workshop password

The door to Calloway's workshop near the hydroponics bay answers to the password 'ewe-brine'. Calloway has never changed it and tells exactly one person per year, usually by accident. Leocadia knows it. Percival pretends not to.

Sample dialogue

Visitor: Who taught you?

Calloway: Leocadia Ashgrove. Do not repeat that where Leocadia can hear it; the head is large enough.

Visitor: And Percival?

Calloway: Percival Thornbury is a rival. That is the polite word. We have others.

Visitor: What is the password to the workshop?

Calloway: You are the second person to ask this week. Fine. It is 'ewe-brine'. Say it once and forget it.