

Halcyon Hartwell

Character Dossier

Shy, brilliant and defensive salvage pilot of Lumen Falls, a small mountain town in 1987

Overview

Halcyon Hartwell is a salvage pilot living in Lumen Falls, a small mountain town in 1987. Halcyon is 47 years old, originally from Kettering, and is known around the Falls Diner as shy, brilliant and defensive. In conversation Halcyon answers a question with a question before giving a real answer.

Background

Halcyon arrived in Lumen Falls, a small mountain town in 1987 15 years ago after leaving Kettering under circumstances Halcyon describes differently every time. The first job was hauling for the Lumen Falls town council; the second was the one that stuck. Today Halcyon works as a salvage pilot near Route 12 gas station and is paid, when paid at all, in dollars.

Halcyon learned the trade from Qadira Jessop, who still drops by unannounced. The longest-running feud in Halcyon's life is with Eamon Grimsby, over a matter neither will explain. The person Halcyon trusts most is Qadira Jessop.

Current goal: to map every path through the Falls Diner. Greatest fear: losing their sense of smell.

Personality and speech

Temperament: shy, brilliant and defensive.

Speech pattern: Halcyon answers a question with a question before giving a real answer.

Tells: when lying, Halcyon mentions Whistle the beetle for no reason.

Verified facts

These facts are canonical for this character and may be used to verify knowledge-bank retrieval.

Full name	Halcyon Hartwell
Role	salvage pilot
Home	Lumen Falls, a small mountain town in 1987
Hometown	Kettering
Age	47
Favourite dish	hand-rolled oat and ale bread
Pet	Whistle, a beetle
Lucky number	139

Workshop password	thorn-willow
Mentor	Qadira Jessop
Rival	Eamon Grimsby
Closest friend	Qadira Jessop

Secret

Halcyon secretly funds an orphanage in Kettering and would be mortified if anyone found out.

Sample dialogue

Visitor: What do you do here?

Halcyon: I am the salvage pilot. Has been that way longer than you have been asking questions.

Visitor: What is your favourite thing to eat?

Halcyon: Hand-rolled oat and ale bread. Do not tell Eamon I said so.

Visitor: Is Whistle yours?

Halcyon: Whistle belongs to nobody. Whistle tolerates me. Lucky number is 139, if you were about to ask.

Summary (Chinese)

Halcyon是Lumen Falls, a small mountain town in 1987的一名salvage pilot。Halcyon的幸运数字是139。Halcyon最喜欢的菜是hand-rolled oat and ale bread。Halcyon养了一只叫Whistle的beetle。进入工坊的口令是「thorn-willow」。

Summary (Japanese)

HalcyonはLumen Falls, a small mountain town in 1987のsalvage pilotです。Halcyonのラッキーナンバーは139です。好きな料理はhand-rolled oat and ale breadです。Whistleという名前のbeetleを飼っています。工房の合言葉は「thorn-willow」です。

Chronicle

Day-to-day records kept by the character, in no particular order of importance.

Entry 1, autumn of year 12

Someone left a spool of wire on the doorstep with no note. Halcyon has a suspect and is probably right. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the price of lamp oil for an hour and parted better friends than before. Halcyon won 25 dollars on a bet about the comet and spent all of it on supper.

Entry 2, winter of year 12

At the community radio shack, Halcyon taught a newcomer how to tell a real iron kettle from a fake one by weight alone. Halcyon repaired the clockwork bird at the community radio shack for Torvald, who paid in 69 dollars and a long story about the comet. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the rumour of a second well. Halcyon read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 3, summer of year 12

Halcyon closed early, walked to the shuttered paper mill, and watched the lights come on. Halcyon closed early, walked to the shuttered paper mill, and watched the lights come on. Halcyon closed early, walked to the shuttered paper mill, and watched the lights come on. Halcyon repaired the spool of wire at Route 12 gas station for Juniper, who paid in 44 dollars and a long story about the old tunnels. Someone left a grain scale on the doorstep with no note. Halcyon has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 4, spring of year 12

the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the tax on doors. Halcyon read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. The weather turned. Halcyon moved the tin whistle indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about who really won the regatta. Halcyon closed early, walked to the shuttered paper mill, and watched the lights come on. Halcyon won 43 dollars on a bet about the new curfew and spent all of it on supper.

Entry 5, summer of year 13

the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the tariff on salt. Halcyon read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. A dispute over the rumour of a second well flared up between Halcyon and a neighbour outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Halcyon closed early, walked to the community radio shack, and watched the lights come on.

Entry 6, summer of year 13

The weather turned. Halcyon moved the copper pipe indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the missing shipment. The weather turned. Halcyon moved the oilskin map indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the old tunnels. At the shuttered paper mill, Halcyon taught a newcomer how to tell a real pair of spectacles from a fake one by weight alone. Rumours about the quarantine reached the shuttered paper mill. Halcyon pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 7, spring of year 13

Someone left a oilskin map on the doorstep with no note. Halcyon has a suspect and is probably right. The weather turned. Halcyon moved the pair of spectacles indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the census. Noor came by asking about the comet. Halcyon said nothing useful and made tea instead. Halcyon was hired to carry a sack of salt from Pinecrest High to the shuttered paper mill without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A stranger asked Halcyon for the password to the workshop. Halcyon laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 8, spring of year 13

The weather turned. Halcyon moved the bolt of linen indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the comet. The weather turned. Halcyon moved the oilskin map indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the census. A dispute over the tax on doors flared up between Halcyon and a neighbour outside the shuttered paper mill; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 9, spring of year 14

Halcyon was hired to carry a pair of spectacles from the community radio shack to the Falls Diner without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Rumours about the missing shipment reached the community radio shack. Halcyon pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Halcyon closed early, walked to the Falls Diner, and watched the lights come on. Halcyon found a sack of salt half-buried near the community radio shack and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 10, spring of year 14

At Pinecrest High, Halcyon taught a newcomer how to tell a real sextant from a fake one by weight alone. Halcyon repaired the coil of rope at Pinecrest High for Torvald, who paid in 57 dollars and a long story about the census. Someone left a pair of spectacles on the doorstep with no note. Halcyon has a suspect and is probably right. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the missing shipment. Halcyon read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 11, winter of year 14

The weather turned. Halcyon moved the pair of spectacles indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the tariff on salt. Halcyon was hired to carry a hand bell from Route 12 gas station to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Halcyon spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 60 of everything, except the hand bell, which is always short.

Entry 12, autumn of year 14

At Route 12 gas station, Halcyon taught a newcomer how to tell a real oilskin map from a fake one by weight alone. A dispute over the right way to mend a net flared up between Halcyon and a neighbour outside Route 12 gas station; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Calloway came by asking about whether the bridge will hold. Halcyon said nothing useful and made tea instead. Someone left a clockwork bird on the doorstep with no note. Halcyon has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 13, spring of year 14

At the Falls Diner, Halcyon taught a newcomer how to tell a real signal flag from a fake one by weight alone. Halcyon was hired to carry a tin whistle from the Falls Diner to Route 12 gas station without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Halcyon spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 15 of everything, except the bundle of letters, which is always short.

Entry 14, autumn of year 14

the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the comet. Halcyon read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Halcyon was hired to carry a ledger from the community radio shack to the shuttered paper mill without opening it, and mostly succeeded. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the new curfew. Halcyon read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 15, spring of year 14

Halcyon spent the day counting stock at the community radio shack: 87 of everything, except the bolt of linen, which is always short. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the missing shipment for an hour and parted better friends than before. Halcyon repaired the signal flag at the community radio shack for Octavia, who paid in 52 dollars and a long story about the price of lamp oil. Rumours about the comet reached the community radio shack. Halcyon pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Halcyon won 65 dollars on a bet about who really won the regatta and spent all of it on supper.

Entry 16, summer of year 14

the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the new curfew. Halcyon read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the tax on doors. Halcyon read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Someone left a coil of rope on the doorstep with no note. Halcyon has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 17, winter of year 14

The weather turned. Halcyon moved the tin whistle indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the harvest count. Halcyon spent the day counting stock at the shuttered paper mill: 64 of everything, except the sack of salt, which is always short. Halcyon spent the day counting stock at the shuttered paper mill: 63 of everything, except the sextant, which is always short.

Entry 18, spring of year 14

Rumours about the rumour of a second well reached the community radio shack. Halcyon pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Halcyon won 22 dollars on a bet about the old tunnels and spent all of it on supper. The weather turned. Halcyon moved the bundle of letters indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the price of lamp oil. Halcyon repaired the iron kettle at the community radio shack for Nkechi, who paid in 60 dollars and a long story about who really won the regatta. Tiberius came by asking about the price of lamp oil. Halcyon said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 19, spring of year 14

Rumours about the census reached Pinecrest High. Halcyon pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the quarantine for an hour and parted better friends than before. The weather turned. Halcyon moved the coil of rope indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the rumour of a second well. Rumours about whether the bridge will hold reached Pinecrest High. Halcyon pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the missing shipment for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 20, winter of year 14

An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the new curfew for an hour and parted better friends than before. Ravi came by asking about the right way to mend a net. Halcyon said nothing useful and made tea instead. Caspian came by asking about the new curfew. Halcyon said nothing useful and made tea instead. Halcyon was hired to carry a copper pipe from the Falls Diner to the shuttered paper mill without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 21, autumn of year 15

Halcyon closed early, walked to the community radio shack, and watched the lights come on. Rumours about the price of lamp oil reached the shuttered paper mill. Halcyon pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the missing shipment for an hour and parted better friends than before. At the shuttered paper mill, Halcyon taught a newcomer how to tell a real tin whistle from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 22, autumn of year 15

Halcyon repaired the grain scale at the Falls Diner for Emeric, who paid in 62 dollars and a long story about the old tunnels. Someone left a sextant on the doorstep with no note. Halcyon has a suspect and is probably right. Halcyon was hired to carry a sack of salt from the Falls Diner to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Halcyon spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 13 of everything, except the hand bell, which is always short. Halcyon closed early, walked to Pinecrest High, and watched the lights come on.

Entry 23, spring of year 15

Halcyon repaired the glass float at the community radio shack for Nikolai, who paid in 62 dollars and a long story about the new curfew. Halcyon closed early, walked to the shuttered paper mill, and watched the lights come on. A dispute over the tariff on salt flared up between Halcyon and a neighbour outside the community radio shack; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 24, autumn of year 15

A dispute over the price of lamp oil flared up between Halcyon and a neighbour outside Route 12 gas station; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. A dispute over the census flared up between Halcyon and a neighbour outside Route 12 gas station; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. The weather turned. Halcyon moved the sack of salt indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the singing at the docks. Halcyon found a copper pipe half-buried near Route 12 gas station and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 25, winter of year 16

At the Falls Diner, Halcyon taught a newcomer how to tell a real iron kettle from a fake one by weight alone. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the harvest count for an hour and parted better friends than before. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the price of lamp oil. Halcyon read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 26, winter of year 16

Halcyon was hired to carry a oilskin map from the shuttered paper mill to the community radio shack without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Rumours about the harvest count reached the shuttered paper mill. Halcyon pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the tax on doors for an hour and parted better friends than before. A stranger asked Halcyon for the password to the workshop. Halcyon laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Halcyon won 24 dollars on a bet about the tax on doors and spent all of it on supper.

Entry 27, spring of year 16

A stranger asked Halcyon for the password to the workshop. Halcyon laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the comet for an hour and parted better friends than before. Halcyon repaired the copper pipe at the community radio shack for Sable, who paid in 16 dollars and a long story about the singing at the docks. The weather turned. Halcyon moved the copper pipe indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the right way to mend a net.

Entry 28, autumn of year 16

The weather turned. Halcyon moved the grain scale indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the comet. At Route 12 gas station, Halcyon taught a newcomer how to tell a real oilskin map from a fake one by weight alone. Rumours about who really won the regatta reached Route 12 gas station. Halcyon pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Rumours about the old tunnels reached Route 12 gas station. Halcyon pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 29, autumn of year 16

the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the quarantine. Halcyon read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Halcyon found a copper pipe half-buried near Pinecrest High and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the tariff on salt for an hour and parted better friends than before. Halcyon was hired to carry a clockwork bird from Pinecrest High to the Falls Diner without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 30, autumn of year 16

Halcyon found a spool of wire half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. The weather turned. Halcyon moved the iron kettle indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the harvest count. A stranger asked Halcyon for the password to the workshop. Halcyon laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 31, autumn of year 16

Halcyon spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 35 of everything, except the copper pipe, which is always short. Katarina came by asking about the rumour of a second well. Halcyon said nothing useful and made tea instead. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the tax on doors for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 32, autumn of year 16

Halcyon found a clockwork bird half-buried near the shuttered paper mill and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. The weather turned. Halcyon moved the coil of rope indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the right way to mend a net. At the shuttered paper mill, Halcyon taught a newcomer how to tell a real glass float from a fake one by weight alone. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the right way to mend a net. Halcyon read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 33, spring of year 17

Halcyon found a pair of spectacles half-buried near Pinecrest High and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. At Pinecrest High, Halcyon taught a newcomer how to tell a real brass lantern from a fake one by weight alone. Ulla came by asking about the new curfew. Halcyon said nothing useful and made tea instead. The weather turned. Halcyon moved the signal flag indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about whether the bridge will hold. Halcyon found a pair of spectacles half-buried near Pinecrest High and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 34, spring of year 17

An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the comet for an hour and parted better friends than before. The weather turned. Halcyon moved the clockwork bird indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the tax on doors. Someone left a oilskin map on the doorstep with no note. Halcyon has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 35, spring of year 17

Halcyon repaired the glass float at Route 12 gas station for Delphine, who paid in 41 dollars and a long story about the price of lamp oil. Rumours about the rumour of a second well reached Route 12 gas station. Halcyon pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the tariff on salt for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 36, autumn of year 17

A stranger asked Halcyon for the password to the workshop. Halcyon laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A stranger asked Halcyon for the password to the workshop. Halcyon laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Halcyon repaired the signal flag at the shuttered paper mill for Tallulah, who paid in 39 dollars and a long story about the quarantine. A dispute over the census flared up between Halcyon and a neighbour outside the shuttered paper mill; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 37, autumn of year 18

Halcyon repaired the copper pipe at Pinecrest High for Quillon, who paid in 26 dollars and a long story about the singing at the docks. A dispute over the right way to mend a net flared up between Halcyon and a neighbour outside Pinecrest High; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. At Pinecrest High, Halcyon taught a newcomer how to tell a real spool of wire from a fake one by weight alone. Halcyon found a glass float half-buried near Pinecrest High and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A dispute over the missing shipment flared up between Halcyon and a neighbour outside Pinecrest High; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 38, spring of year 18

Halcyon repaired the glass float at the Falls Diner for Osric, who paid in 3 dollars and a long story about the rumour of a second well. Halcyon was hired to carry a oilskin map from the Falls Diner to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Someone left a bolt of linen on the doorstep with no note. Halcyon has a suspect and is probably right. At the Falls Diner, Halcyon taught a newcomer how to tell a real sextant from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 39, summer of year 18

A dispute over the right way to mend a net flared up between Halcyon and a neighbour outside Pinecrest High; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Halcyon won 46 dollars on a bet about the census and spent all of it on supper. The weather turned. Halcyon moved the tin whistle indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the singing at the docks. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the old tunnels. Halcyon read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 40, spring of year 18

Rumours about the new curfew reached the shuttered paper mill. Halcyon pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Halcyon spent the day counting stock at the shuttered paper mill: 60 of everything, except the pair of spectacles, which is always short. Halcyon was hired to carry a brass lantern from the shuttered paper mill to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Halcyon repaired the pair of spectacles at the shuttered paper mill for Ignatius, who paid in 84 dollars and a long story about the harvest count. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the quarantine for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 41, summer of year 18

Halcyon found a iron kettle half-buried near Route 12 gas station and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Nkechi came by asking about the comet. Halcyon said nothing useful and made tea instead. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the old tunnels for an hour and parted better friends than before. A dispute over the right way to mend a net flared up between Halcyon and a neighbour outside Route 12 gas station; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the right way to mend a net for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 42, autumn of year 18

An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the singing at the docks for an hour and parted better friends than before. Halcyon repaired the iron kettle at the community radio shack for Juniper, who paid in 26 dollars and a long story about who really won the regatta. Halcyon was hired to carry a tin whistle from the community radio shack to Route 12 gas station without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Rumours about the missing shipment reached the community radio shack. Halcyon pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Torvald came by asking about the right way to mend a net. Halcyon said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 43, winter of year 18

Halcyon closed early, walked to the Falls Diner, and watched the lights come on. Tiberius came by asking about the quarantine. Halcyon said nothing useful and made tea instead. At Route 12 gas station, Halcyon taught a newcomer how to tell a real spool of wire from a fake one by weight alone. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the new curfew. Halcyon read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 44, spring of year 18

Halcyon spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 3 of everything, except the sextant, which is always short. Rumours about the quarantine reached the Falls Diner. Halcyon pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A stranger asked Halcyon for the password to the workshop. Halcyon laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Someone left a sack of salt on the doorstep with no note. Halcyon has a suspect and is probably right. Rumours about the old tunnels reached the Falls Diner. Halcyon pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 45, autumn of year 18

Halcyon spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 13 of everything, except the oilskin map, which is always short. Halcyon was hired to carry a ledger from the Falls Diner to the community radio shack without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Halcyon repaired the signal flag at the Falls Diner for Caspian, who paid in 59 dollars and a long story about the rumour of a second well. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about who really won the regatta for an hour and parted better friends than before. A stranger asked Halcyon for the password to the workshop. Halcyon laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 46, summer of year 18

An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about who really won the regatta for an hour and parted better friends than before. Halcyon won 2 dollars on a bet about the rumour of a second well and spent all of it on supper. A dispute over the price of lamp oil flared up between Halcyon and a neighbour outside the community radio shack; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 47, autumn of year 18

The weather turned. Halcyon moved the grain scale indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about whether the bridge will hold. Yusuf came by asking about the singing at the docks. Halcyon said nothing useful and made tea instead. Halcyon won 15 dollars on a bet about the old tunnels and spent all of it on supper. A stranger asked Halcyon for the password to the workshop. Halcyon laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Halcyon was hired to carry a coil of rope from the Falls Diner to Route 12 gas station without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 48, summer of year 18

Halcyon found a oilskin map half-buried near the shuttered paper mill and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A dispute over the right way to mend a net flared up between Halcyon and a neighbour outside the shuttered paper mill; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. A dispute over the old tunnels flared up between Halcyon and a neighbour outside the shuttered paper mill; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. A dispute over the comet flared up between Halcyon and a neighbour outside the shuttered paper mill; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 49, winter of year 19

Halcyon repaired the cracked compass at the shuttered paper mill for Caspian, who paid in 9 dollars and a long story about the tax on doors. At the shuttered paper mill, Halcyon taught a newcomer how to tell a real bundle of letters from a fake one by weight alone. The weather turned. Halcyon moved the glass float indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the tax on doors. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the quarantine for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 50, autumn of year 19

Halcyon won 72 dollars on a bet about the new curfew and spent all of it on supper. Halcyon closed early, walked to the community radio shack, and watched the lights come on. Halcyon repaired the iron kettle at Pinecrest High for Noor, who paid in 36 dollars and a long story about the quarantine. A stranger asked Halcyon for the password to the workshop. Halcyon laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 51, winter of year 19

Halcyon found a spool of wire half-buried near Pinecrest High and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Rumours about whether the bridge will hold reached Pinecrest High. Halcyon pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Halcyon spent the day counting stock at Pinecrest High: 87 of everything, except the cracked compass, which is always short. Rumours about the tariff on salt reached Pinecrest High. Halcyon pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 52, spring of year 19

Torvald came by asking about the comet. Halcyon said nothing useful and made tea instead. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the right way to mend a net for an hour and parted better friends than before. The weather turned. Halcyon moved the signal flag indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the quarantine.

Entry 53, winter of year 20

the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the old tunnels. Halcyon read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Halcyon closed early, walked to the Falls Diner, and watched the lights come on. A stranger asked Halcyon for the password to the workshop. Halcyon laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. At Route 12 gas station, Halcyon taught a newcomer how to tell a real spool of wire from a fake one by weight alone. Rumours about the new curfew reached Route 12 gas station. Halcyon pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 54, summer of year 20

Halcyon repaired the clockwork bird at the Falls Diner for Quillon, who paid in 36 dollars and a long story about the right way to mend a net. Halcyon was hired to carry a iron kettle from the Falls Diner to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded. The weather turned. Halcyon moved the ledger indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the harvest count. Halcyon repaired the wax seal at the Falls Diner for Amadou, who paid in 3 dollars and a long story about whether the bridge will hold. Someone left a hand bell on the doorstep with no note. Halcyon has a suspect and is probably right.